

GET WITH THE PROGRAM©

Parent & Teacher Workshop: How to Shape the World of Children and Adolescents

- Do you currently have children or adolescents entering or within the School Years?
- Are you concerned with their mental health, behaviour, social or academic performance?
- Do they become stressed, intense, frustrated or anxious about school?
- Are you stressed and anxious in response to their behaviour and situation?
- Do you struggle to get them motivated about school work, homework, assignments, tests, or exams?
- Do you have difficulties in relationships in the family home, resulting in a stream of disagreements?
- Do they respond in their behaviour with shut down, ignoring or emotional reactivity?
- Are you concerned about their future, and future direction?

This introductory evening is designed specifically to meet the needs of adolescents of all ages, their families and support people, and teachers will address the many issues facing the parents and educators in the home, school and community environments today.

During the workshop we will be discussing 3 KEY PRINCIPLES to creating immediate change, and strategies for now and future moments.

The workshop will be followed by further engagement opportunities for you and your family.*

Presenter: Scott Hardie

University Lecturer in Education; Health & Community Services; Adjunct Lecturer in Speech Pathology

Speech Pathologist, Learning & Behavioural Clinician

Master Coach / Trainer of Coaching; NLP; Time Line Therapy®; Clinical Hypnotherapy & Mindfulness

When: Tuesday 20th June 2017 at 6:30 – 8:30 pm

Where: The Community Centre @ the Grove Library, 1 Leake Street, Peppermint Grove, W. A. 6011

Investment: GOLD COIN Donation to 'The Smith Family'

For further information, register your interest, and to book your seat - contact Kate McIntosh on 0434558838 or email kaettie45@gmail.com or email Scott on scott@coachingmbs.com

Presenter:

Scott Hardie is considered a 'Master of Language and Process' Australia-Wide by parents and teachers in the field of Student Communication, Learning & Behaviour.

His experience, within the private & public sectors of National Sport, Education & Mental Health, and private practice, spans 25 years. The many facets of this practice support children, adolescents and young adults with social, emotional, language, learning and behavioural and mental health challenges. He works with their families and associated school environments to ease the energy of home, school and community environments, and create positive possibilities, and pathways for life.

He is recognised by his work with children & adolescents, families, and schools nationally, for providing a 'wrap-around' approach, utilising powerful coaching frameworks, therapeutic evidence-based practice, and accelerated learning techniques.